History and Social Science Standards of Learning for Virginia Public Schools

Message from the Task Force Management Committee

In 1995 the Virginia Board of Education published Standards of Learning in English, mathematics, science, and history and social science for kindergarten through grade twelve. The Standards of Learning provide a framework for instructional programs designed to raise the academic achievement of all students in Virginia. Since 1995 school divisions and teachers have worked to incorporate the standards in local curriculum and classroom instruction. The Virginia General Assembly, in 2000, directed the Board of Education to establish a cycle for periodic review and revision of the Standards of Learning. Pursuant to this legislation and in response to issues raised by the public, the Board of Education in June 2000 appointed a Task Force comprised of Board members, legislators, and community representatives in addition to social studies educators to direct the review of the History and Social Science Standards of Learning. Review committees of social studies educators revised the standards consistent with recommendations made by the Task Force. The revised History and Social Science Standards of Learning will be approved by the Board of Education following a public comment period.

The Task Force directed the review committees to revise the 1995 History and Social Science Standards of Learning and the 1999 History and Social Science Standards of Learning Teacher Resource Guide to ensure that both the standards and the supplemental teacher resource reflect current scholarship, identify essential content knowledge and skills, and address the academic needs of Virginia students. The revised History and Social Science Standards of Learning incorporate recommendations made by Task Force members. The Task Force recommendations were designed to focus the revision on

- the quantity of content that can be taught and learned effectively in the minimum instructional time prescribed by the Virginia Standards of Accreditation for core academic disciplines;
- the sequential development of content knowledge and skills designed to extend previous academic expectations which are appropriately rigorous for the age of the student for whom the standards are written; and
- the experiences and contributions of men and women of diverse racial, ethnic, cultural, and religious backgrounds.

The Task Force asked review committee members to be judicious in the scope of their revisions, acknowledging the burden to school divisions of aligning curriculum, instructional materials, and professional development initiatives with the revised standards.

Following the adoption of the revised standards, review committees will also revise the 1999 Standards of Learning Teacher Resource Guide. This supplemental guide will delineate in greater specificity the minimum content that all teachers should teach and all students should learn. The Teacher Resource Guide assists teachers as they plan their lessons by framing essential questions, identifying essential understandings, defining essential content knowledge, and describing the intellectual skills students need to master. The History and Social Science Standards of Learning, amplified by the Teacher Resource Guide, define the content knowledge and skills that the Standards of Learning tests measure. It is understood that these academic standards are to be incorporated into a broader, locally designed curriculum. The Teacher Resource Guide provides additional guidance to school divisions and their teachers as they develop an instructional program appropriate for their students.

The History and Social Science Standards of Learning do not prescribe the grade level at which the standards must be taught. The Board of Education recognizes that local divisions will adopt a K–12 instructional sequence that best serves their students. The design of the Standards of Learning assessment program, however, requires that all Virginia school divisions prepare students to demonstrate achievement of the standards for elementary and middle school history and social science by the following grade levels:

- Grade 3: Introduction to History and Social Science, K–3
- Grade 5: Virginia Studies: 1607 to the Present
- Grade 8: United States History to 1877; United States History: 1877 to the Present; and Civics and Economics.

The high school end-of-course Standards of Learning tests in World History and Geography to 1500 A.D.; World History and Geography: 1500 A.D. to the Present; World Geography; and Virginia and United States History, for which students may earn verified units of credit, are administered in a locally determined sequence.

The History and Social Science Standards of Learning and the Standards of Learning assessment program form the core of the Virginia Board of Education's efforts to strengthen public education across the Commonwealth and to raise the level of academic achievement of all Virginia students.

Kindergarten

Introduction to History and Social Science

The standards for kindergarten students include an introduction to the lives of interesting people in history. During the course of their first year in school, students should learn basic concepts involved in history, geographic direction, needs and wants, and the importance of following rules and respecting the rights and property of other people.

History

- K.1 The student will recognize that history describes events and people of other times and places by
 - a) identifying examples of past events in legends, stories, and historical accounts of Pocahontas, George Washington, Betsy Ross, and Abraham Lincoln;
 - b) identifying the people and events honored in the holidays of Thanksgiving Day, Martin Luther King, Jr. Day, Presidents' Day, and the Fourth of July.
- K.2 The student will describe everyday life in the present and in the past and begin to recognize that things change over time.

Geography

- K.3 The student will describe the relative location of people, places, and things by using positional words, with emphasis on near/far, above/below, left/right, and behind/in front.
- K.4 The student will use simple maps and globes to
 - a) develop an awareness that a map is a drawing of a place to show where things are located and that a globe is a round model of the Earth;
 - b) describe places referenced in stories and real-life situations;
 - c) locate land and water features.
- K.5 The student will develop an awareness that maps and globes
 - a) show a view from above;
 - b) show things in smaller scale;
 - c) show the position of things.

Economics

- K.6 The student will match simple descriptions of work that people do with the names of those jobs.
- K.7 The student will
 - a) identify the difference between basic needs (food, clothing, and shelter) and wants (things people would like to have);
 - b) recognize that people use money to purchase goods.

Civics

- K.8 The student will demonstrate that being a good citizen involves
- a) taking turns and sharing;
 - b) taking responsibility for certain classroom chores;
 - c) taking care of personal belongings and respecting what belongs to others;
 - d) following rules and understanding the consequence of breaking rules.
- K.9 The student will recognize the American flag, the Pledge of Allegiance when heard, and that the President is the leader of the United States.

Grade One

Introduction to History and Social Science

The standards for first grade students include an introduction to the lives of American leaders and their contributions to the United States. First grade students should recognize basic map symbols and construct a simple map of a familiar area. The students should study the economic concepts of goods and services, buyers and sellers, and making economic choices. First grade students should learn to apply the traits of good citizenship and recognize that different people live in the community.

History

- 1.1 The student will interpret information presented in picture time lines to show sequence of events and will distinguish between past and present.
- 1.2 The student will describe the stories of American leaders and their contributions to our country, with emphasis on George Washington, Benjamin Franklin, Abraham Lincoln, and George Washington Carver.
- 1.3 The student will study the lives of people commemorated by Presidents' Day and the events associated with the Fourth of July.

Geography

- 1.4 The student will develop map skills by
 - a) recognizing basic map symbols, including references to land, water, cities, and roads;
 - b) using cardinal directions on maps;
 - c) identifying the physical shape of the United States and Virginia on maps and globes;
 - d) locating Washington, D.C., the capital of the United States, and Richmond, the capital of Virginia, on a United States map.
- 1.5 The student will construct a simple map of a familiar area, using basic map symbols in the map legend.
- 1.6 The student will describe how location, climate, and physical surroundings affect the way people live, including their food, clothing, shelter, transportation, and recreation.

Economics

- 1.7 The student will explain the difference between goods and services and will describe how people are both buyers and sellers of goods and services.
- 1.8 The student will explain that people make choices because people cannot have everything they want.
- 1.9 The student will recognize that people save money for the future to purchase goods and services.

Civics

- 1.10 The student will apply the traits of good citizenship by
 - a) focusing on fair play, exhibiting good sportsmanship, and treating others with respect;
 - b) recognizing the purpose of rules;
 - c) working hard in school.
- 1.11 The student will recognize the symbols and traditional practices that honor and foster patriotism in the United States by
 - a) identifying the American flag, bald eagle, Washington Monument, and Statue of Liberty;
 - b) demonstrating respect for the American flag by learning the Pledge of Allegiance.
- 1.12 The student will recognize that different people live in and make contributions to his or her community.

Grade Two

Introduction to History and Social Science

The standards for second grade students include an introduction to the heritage and contributions of the people of ancient China and Egypt, and of the American Indians. Second grade students should continue developing map skills and demonstrate an understanding of simple economic concepts. The students will identify selected American individuals who have worked to improve the lives of American citizens. The students will recognize that the United States is a land of different peoples and will appreciate customs and traditions other than their own.

History

- 2.1 The student will explain how the contributions of ancient China and Egypt have influenced the present world in terms of architecture, inventions, the calendar, and written language.
- 2.2 The student will compare the lives and contributions of American Indians (First Americans) with emphasis on the Powhatan of the Eastern Woodlands, the Sioux of the Plains, and the Pueblo people of the Southwest.
- 2.3 The student will identify and compare changes in community life over time in terms of buildings, jobs, transportation, and population.

Geography

- 2.4 The student will develop map skills by
 - a) locating China and Egypt on world maps;
 - b) locating the regions of the Powhatan, Sioux, and Pueblo Indians on United States maps;
 - c) comparing the climate, land, and plant life of these regions;
 - d) describing how these people adapted to their environment.
- 2.5 The student will develop map skills by
 - a) locating the equator, the seven continents, and the four oceans on maps and globes;
 - b) locating selected rivers (James River, Mississippi River, Rio Grande River), mountain ranges (Appalachian Mountains and Rocky Mountains), and lakes (Great Lakes) in the United States.
- 2.6 The student will demonstrate map skills by constructing simple maps, using title, map legend, and compass rose.

Economics

- 2.7 The student will describe the differences between natural resources (e.g., water, soil, wood, and coal), human resources (people at work), and capital resources (e.g., machines, tools, and buildings).
- 2.8 The student will distinguish between the use of barter and money in the exchange for goods and services.
- 2.9 The student will explain that scarcity (limited resources) requires people to make choices about producing and consuming goods and services.

Civics

- 2.10 The student will identify ways people can work together in the classroom and in the community by
 - a) respecting the rights and property of others;
 - b) obeying rules and laws;
 - c) helping others.
- 2.11 The student will identify George Washington, Abraham Lincoln, Susan B. Anthony, Helen Keller, Jackie Robinson, and Martin Luther King, Jr. as people who have worked to improve the lives of American citizens.
- 2.12 The student will recognize that the United States is a land of different peoples who participate in a community and nation that honor many customs and traditions.

Grade Three

Introduction to History and Social Science

The standards for third grade students include an introduction to the heritage and contributions of the people of ancient Greece and Rome and the West African empire of Mali. Third grade students should continue developing map skills and demonstrate an understanding of simple economic concepts. The students will explain the importance of the basic principles of democracy and identify the contributions of selected individuals. Third grade students will recognize that the United States is a land of different peoples who contribute to American life.

History

- 3.1 The student will explain how the contributions of ancient Greece and Rome have influenced the present world in terms of architecture, government (direct and representative democracy), and sports.
- 3.2 The student will study the early West African empire of Mali by describing the oral tradition (storytelling), government (kings), and economic development (trade).
- 3.3 The student will study the exploration of the Americas by
 - a) describing the accomplishments of Christopher Columbus, Juan Ponce de Leon, Jacques Cartier, and Christopher Newport;
 - b) identifying their reasons for exploring, the information gained from their journeys, and the results of their travels.

Geography

- 3.4 The student will develop map skills by
 - a) locating Greece, Rome, and West Africa;
 - b) describing the physical and human characteristics of these places;
 - c) explaining how the people of these places adapted to and/or changed their environment to meet their needs.
- 3.5 The student will develop map skills by
 - a) positioning and labeling the seven continents and four oceans to create a world map;
 - b) using the equator and prime meridian to identify the four hemispheres;
 - c) locating the countries of Spain, England, and France;
 - d) locating the regions in the Americas explored by Christopher Columbus (San Salvador in the Bahamas), Juan Ponce de Leon (near St. Augustine, Florida), Jacques Cartier (near Quebec, Canada), and Christopher Newport (Jamestown, Virginia);
 - e) locating specific places on a simple letter-number grid system.
- 3.6 The student will interpret geographic information from maps, tables, graphs, and charts.

Economics

- 3.7 The student will explain how producers use natural resources (e.g., water, soil, wood, and coal), human resources (people at work), and capital resources (e.g., machines, tools, and buildings) to produce goods and services for consumers.
- 3.8 The student will recognize the concepts of specialization (being an expert in one job, product, or service) and interdependence (depending on others) in the production of goods and services (e.g., in ancient Greece, Rome, the West African empire of Mali, and in the present).
- 3.9 The student will identify examples of making an economic choice and will explain the idea of opportunity cost (what is given up when making a choice).

Civics

- 3.10 The student will explain that the rights of citizens include responsibilities with emphasis on
 - a) respecting and protecting the rights and property of others;
 - b) taking part in the voting process in school elections;
 - c) participating in the improvement of life in the school and in the community.
- 3.11 The student will explain the importance of the basic principles of American democracy that unify the citizens as a nation by
 - a) describing the individual rights to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness; freedom; and equality under the law;
 - b) identifying the contributions of George Washington, Abraham Lincoln, Thomas Jefferson, Rosa Parks, Martin Luther King, Jr., and Thurgood Marshall;
 - c) recognizing that Veterans Day and Memorial Day honor people who have served to protect the country's freedoms.
- 3.12 The student will recognize that Americans are united by the basic principles of American democracy.

Virginia Studies

The standards for Virginia Studies allow students to develop a greater understanding of Virginia's rich history, from the early settlements of American Indian language groups and the founding of Jamestown, to the present. Geographic, economic, and civic concepts are presented within this historic context. Students will develop the skills needed to analyze, interpret, and demonstrate knowledge of important events and ideas in our history, and understand the contributions made by people of diverse cultural and ethnic backgrounds. Students will use geographic tools to examine the influence of physical and cultural geography on Virginia history. Ideas that form the foundation for political institutions in Virginia and the United States also are included as part of the story of Virginia.

The study of history must emphasize the intellectual skills required for responsible citizenship. Students practice these skills as they extend their understanding of the essential knowledge defined by all of the standards for history and social science.

Skills

- VS.1 The student will develop skills for historical and geographical analysis and be able to
- identify and interpret primary and secondary source documents to understand events in history;
 - determine cause and effect relationships;
 - compare and contrast historical events;
 - draw conclusions and make generalizations;
 - make connections between past and present;
 - sequence events in Virginia history;
 - interpret ideas and events from different historical perspectives;
 - evaluate, discuss, and debate both orally and in writing;
 - analyze and interpret maps to explain relationships among landforms, water features, climatic characteristics, and historical events.

Virginia: The Land and Its First Inhabitants

- VS.2 The student will demonstrate knowledge of the geography and the inhabitants of Virginia before 1607 by
- locating and describing Virginia's Coastal Plain (Tidewater), Piedmont, Blue Ridge Mountains, Valley and Ridge, and Appalachian Plateau;
 - locating and identifying water features important to the early history of Virginia (Atlantic Ocean, Chesapeake Bay, James River, York River, Potomac River, and Rappahannock River);
 - locating Virginia and the bordering states on maps of the United States;
 - locating three American Indian (First Americans) language groups (the Algonquian, the Siouan, and the Iroquoian) on a map of Virginia;
 - describing how American Indians (First Americans) adapted to the climate and their environment to secure food, clothing, and shelter.

Colonization and Conflict: 1607 through the American Revolution

- VS.3 The student will demonstrate knowledge of the first permanent English settlement in America by
- a) explaining the reasons for English colonization;
 - b) describing how geography influenced the decision to settle at Jamestown;
 - c) identifying the importance of the Charters of the Virginia Company of London in establishing the Jamestown settlement;
 - d) identifying the importance of the Virginia House of Burgesses (1619) as the first elected legislative body in the Americas;
 - e) identifying the importance of the arrival of Africans and women to the Jamestown settlement;
 - f) describing the hardships faced by settlers at Jamestown and the changes that took place to ensure survival;
 - g) describing the interactions between the English settlers and the Powhatan people, including the contributions of the Powhatans to the survival of the settlers.
- VS.4 The student will demonstrate knowledge of life in the Virginia colony by
- a) explaining the importance of agriculture and its influence on the institution of slavery;
 - b) describing how European (English, Scotch-Irish, German) immigrants, Africans, and American Indians (First Americans) influenced the cultural landscape and changed the relationship between the Virginia colony and England;
 - c) explaining how geography influenced the relocation of Virginia's capital from Jamestown to Williamsburg to Richmond;
 - d) describing how money, barter, and credit were used.
- VS.5 The student will demonstrate knowledge of the role of Virginia in the American Revolution by
- a) identifying the reasons why the colonies went to war with England as expressed in the Declaration of Independence;
 - b) identifying the various roles played by Virginians in the Revolutionary War era, with emphasis on George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, and Patrick Henry;
 - c) identifying the importance of the American victory at Yorktown.

Political Growth and Western Expansion: 1781 to the Mid 1800s

- VS.6 The student will demonstrate knowledge of the role of Virginia in the establishment of the new American nation by
- a) explaining why George Washington is called the "Father of our Country" and James Madison is called the "Father of the Constitution";
 - b) identifying the ideas of George Mason and Thomas Jefferson as expressed in the Virginia Declaration of Rights and the Virginia Statute for Religious Freedom;
 - c) explaining the influence of geography on the migration of Virginians into western territories and the deep South.

Civil War and Post-War Eras

- VS.7 The student will demonstrate knowledge of the issues that divided our nation and led to the Civil War by
- a) identifying events and conflicts between northern and southern states;
 - b) describing how these events and conflicts divided Virginians and led to the creation of West Virginia.
- VS.8 The student will demonstrate knowledge of the reconstruction of Virginia following the Civil War by
- a) identifying the effects of Reconstruction on life in Virginia;
 - b) identifying the effects of segregation and “Jim Crow” on life in Virginia;
 - c) describing the importance of railroads, new industries, and the growth of cities to Virginia’s economic development.

Virginia: 1900 to the Present

- VS.9 The student will demonstrate knowledge of twentieth century Virginia by
- a) describing the economic and social transition from a rural, agricultural society to a more urban, industrialized society;
 - b) identifying the social and political events in Virginia linked to desegregation and Massive Resistance and their relationship to national history;
 - c) describing the growing size and diversity of Virginia’s population and the reasons people come to Virginia from other states and countries;
 - d) identifying the political, social, and economic contributions made by Virginians, including Lewis F. Powell, Jr. and L. Douglas Wilder.
- VS.10 The student will demonstrate knowledge of government, geography, and economics by
- a) identifying the three branches of Virginia government and the function of each;
 - b) describing the major products and industries of Virginia’s five geographic regions;
 - c) explaining how advances in transportation, communications, and technology have contributed to Virginia’s prosperity and role in the global economy.

United States History to 1877

Students will use skills of historical and geographical analysis to explore the early history of the United States and understand ideas and events that strengthened the union. The standards for this course relate to the history of the United States from pre-Columbian times until 1877.

Students will continue to learn fundamental concepts in civics, economics, and geography as they study United States history in chronological sequence and learn about change and continuity in our history. They also will study documents and speeches that laid the foundation of American ideals and institutions and will examine the everyday life of people at different times in the country's history through the use of primary and secondary sources.

The study of history must emphasize the intellectual skills required for responsible citizenship. Students practice these skills as they extend their understanding of the essential knowledge defined by all of the standards for history and social science.

Skills

- USI.1 The student will develop skills for historical and geographical analysis, including the ability to
- a) identify, analyze, and interpret primary and secondary source documents to better understand events and life in United States history to 1877;
 - b) make connections between the past and the present;
 - c) sequence events in United States history from pre-Columbian times to 1877;
 - d) interpret ideas and events from different historical perspectives;
 - e) evaluate, discuss, and debate both orally and in writing;
 - f) analyze and interpret maps to explain relationships among landforms, water features, climatic characteristics, and historical events;
 - g) distinguish between parallels of latitude and meridians of longitude;
 - h) interpret patriotic slogans and excerpts from notable speeches and documents.

Geography

- USI.2 The student will use maps, globes, photographs, pictures, and tables to
- a) locate the seven continents;
 - b) locate and describe the relative location of the geographic regions of North America: Coastal Plain, Appalachian Mountains, Canadian Shield, Interior Lowlands, Great Plains, Rocky Mountains, Basin and Range, and Coastal Ranges;
 - c) locate and identify the water features important to the early history of the United States: Great Lakes, Mississippi River, Missouri River, Ohio River, Columbia River, Colorado River, Rio Grande River, Atlantic Ocean, Pacific Ocean, Arctic Ocean, and Gulf of Mexico.

Exploration to Revolution: Pre-Columbian Times to the 1770s

- USI.3 The student will demonstrate knowledge of how early cultures developed in North America by
- locating where the American Indians (First Americans) settled with emphasis on Arctic (Inuit), Northwest (Kwakiutl), Plains (Sioux), Southwest (Pueblo), and Eastern Woodland (Iroquois);
 - describing how the American Indians (First Americans) used their environment to obtain food, clothing, and shelter.
- USI.4 The student will demonstrate knowledge of European exploration in North America and West Africa by
- describing the motivations, obstacles, and accomplishments of the Spanish, French, Portuguese, and English explorations;
 - describing cultural interactions between Europeans and American Indians (First Americans) that led to cooperation and conflict;
 - identifying the location and describing the characteristics of West African societies (Mali, Ghana, and Songhai) and their interactions with European traders.
- USI.5 The student will demonstrate knowledge of the factors that shaped colonial America by
- describing the religious and economic events and conditions that led to the colonization of America;
 - comparing and contrasting life in the New England, Mid-Atlantic, and Southern colonies, with emphasis on how people interacted with their environment;
 - describing colonial life in America from the perspectives of large landowners, farmers, artisans, women, indentured servants, and slaves;
 - identifying the political and economic relationships between the colonies and England.

Revolution and the New Nation: 1770s to the Early 1800s

- USI.6 The student will demonstrate knowledge of the causes and results of the American Revolution by
- identifying the issues of dissatisfaction that led to the American Revolution;
 - identifying how political ideas shaped the revolutionary movement in America and led to the Declaration of Independence;
 - describing key events and the roles of key individuals in the American Revolution, with emphasis on George Washington, John Adams, Benjamin Franklin, Thomas Jefferson, Patrick Henry, and Thomas Paine;
 - explaining reasons why the colonies were able to defeat Britain.
- USI.7 The student will demonstrate knowledge of the challenges faced by the new nation by
- identifying the weaknesses of the government established by the Articles of Confederation;
 - identifying the basic principles of the new government established by the United States Constitution and the Bill of Rights;
 - identifying the conflicts that resulted in the emergence of two political parties;
 - describing the major accomplishments of the first five presidents of the United States.

Expansion and Reform: 1801 to 1861

- USI.8 The student will demonstrate knowledge of westward expansion and reform in America from 1801 to 1861 by
- a) describing territorial expansion and how it affected the political map of the United States, with emphasis on the Louisiana Purchase and the acquisition of Florida, Texas, Oregon, and California;
 - b) identifying the geographic and economic reasons that influenced the westward movement of settlers;
 - c) describing the impact of inventions, including the cotton gin, the reaper, the steamboat, and the steam locomotive, on life in America;
 - d) identifying the main ideas of the abolitionist and suffrage movements.

Civil War and Reconstruction: 1860s to 1877

- USI.9 The student will demonstrate knowledge of the causes, major events, and effects of the Civil War by
- a) describing the cultural, economic, and constitutional issues that divided the nation;
 - b) explaining how the issues of states' rights and slavery increased sectional tensions;
 - c) identifying on a map the states that seceded from the Union and those that remained in the Union;
 - d) describing the roles of key individuals (Abraham Lincoln, Jefferson Davis, Ulysses S. Grant, Robert E. Lee, and Frederick Douglass) in events leading to and during the war;
 - e) using maps to explain critical developments in the war, including major battles;
 - f) describing the effects of war from the perspectives of Union soldiers (including black soldiers) and Confederate soldiers, women, and slaves.
- USI.10 The student will demonstrate knowledge of the effects of Reconstruction on American life by
- a) identifying the provisions of the 13th, 14th, and 15th Amendments to the United States Constitution and their impact on the expansion of freedom in America;
 - b) describing the impact of Reconstruction policies on the South.

United States History: 1877 to the Present

Students will continue to use skills of historical and geographical analysis as they examine American history since 1877. The standards for this course relate to the history of the United States from the end of the Reconstruction era to the present. Students should continue to learn fundamental concepts in civics, economics, and geography within the context of United States history. Political, economic, and social challenges facing the nation reunited after civil war will be examined chronologically as students develop an understanding of how the American experience shaped the world political and economic landscape.

The study of history must emphasize the intellectual skills required for responsible citizenship. Students practice these skills as they extend their understanding of the essential knowledge defined by all of the standards for history and social science.

Skills

- USII.1 The student will demonstrate skills for historical and geographical analysis, including the ability to
- a) identify, analyze, and interpret primary and secondary source documents to better understand events and life in United States history from 1877 to the present;
 - b) make connections between past and present;
 - c) sequence events in United States history from 1877 to the present;
 - d) interpret ideas and events from different historical perspectives;
 - e) evaluate, discuss, and debate both orally and in writing;
 - f) analyze and interpret maps to include major physical features;
 - g) use parallels of latitude and meridians of longitude to describe hemispheric location;
 - h) interpret patriotic slogans and excerpts from notable speeches.

Geography

- USII.2 The student will use maps, globes, photographs, pictures, and tables by
- a) explaining how physical features and climate influenced the movement of people westward;
 - b) explaining relationships among natural resources, transportation, and industrial development after 1877;
 - c) locating the 50 states and the cities most significant to the historical development of the United States.

Reshaping the Nation and the Emergence of Modern America: 1877 to the Early 1900s

- USII.3 The student will demonstrate knowledge of how life changed after the Civil War by
- a) identifying the reasons for westward expansion;
 - b) explaining the reasons for the increased immigration, growth of cities, new inventions, and the challenges arising from this expansion;
 - c) describing racial segregation, the rise of “Jim Crow,” and other constraints faced by African-Americans in the post-Reconstruction South;
 - d) explaining the rise of big business, the growth of industry, and life on American farms;
 - e) describing the impact of the Progressive Movement on child labor, working conditions, the rise of organized labor, women’s suffrage, and the temperance movement.

Turmoil and Change: 1890s to 1945

- USII.4 The student will demonstrate knowledge of the changing role of the United States from the late nineteenth century through World War I by
- a) explaining the reasons for and results of the Spanish American War;
 - b) explaining the reasons for the United States’ involvement in World War I and its leadership role at the conclusion of the war.
- USII.5 The student will demonstrate knowledge of the social, economic, and technological changes of the early twentieth century by
- a) explaining how developments in transportation, communication, and rural electrification changed American life, including the use of the automobile;
 - b) describing the social changes that took place, including prohibition, and the great migration north;
 - c) identifying leaders in art, literature, and music during the 1920s and 1930s, including the Harlem Renaissance, and describing their contributions;
 - d) identifying the causes of the Great Depression, the impact on Americans, and the major features of Franklin Roosevelt’s New Deal.
- USII.6 The student will demonstrate knowledge of the major causes and effects of American involvement in World War II by
- a) identifying the causes and events that led to American involvement in the war, including the attack on Pearl Harbor;
 - b) describing the major events and turning points of the war in Europe and the Pacific;
 - c) describing the impact of World War II on the homefront.

The United States since World War II

- USII.7 The student will demonstrate knowledge of the economic, social, and political transformation of the United States and the world between the end of World War II and the present by
- a) describing the rebuilding of Europe and Japan after World War II, the emergence of the United States as a superpower, and the establishment of the United Nations;
 - b) describing the conversion from a wartime to a peacetime economy;
 - c) describing the changing patterns of society, including expanded educational and economic opportunities for military veterans, women, and minorities;
 - d) identifying the impact of Cold War confrontations on the United States and the world, including the Korean conflict, the Cuban missile crisis, the Vietnam conflict, the collapse of Communism in Europe, and the rise of new challenges.
- USII.8 The student will demonstrate knowledge of the key domestic issues during the second half of the twentieth century by
- a) examining the Civil Rights Movement and the changing role of women;
 - b) describing the impact of space exploration on America;
 - c) describing the development of new technologies and their impact on American life.

Civics and Economics

Standards for Civics and Economics examine the roles citizens play in the political, governmental, and economic systems in the United States. Students examine the constitutions of Virginia and the United States; identify the rights, duties, and responsibilities of citizens; and describe the structure and operation of government at the local, state, and national levels. Students investigate the process by which decisions are made in the American market economy and explain the government's role in the economy. The standards identify the personal character traits that facilitate thoughtful and effective participation in the civic life of an increasingly diverse democratic society.

Civic education also must emphasize the intellectual skills required for responsible citizenship. Students practice these skills as they extend their understanding of the essential knowledge defined by the content standards for Civics and Economics.

- CE.1 The student will develop the social studies skills citizenship requires, including the ability to
 - a) examine primary and secondary source documents;
 - b) create and explain maps, diagrams, tables, charts, graphs, and spreadsheets;
 - c) analyze political cartoons, political advertisements, pictures, and other graphic media;
 - d) distinguish between relevant and irrelevant information;
 - e) review information for accuracy, separating fact from opinion;
 - f) identify a problem and recommend solutions;
 - g) select and defend positions in writing, discussion, and debate.
- CE.2 The student will demonstrate knowledge of the foundations of American constitutional government by
 - a) explaining the fundamental principles of consent of the governed, limited government, rule of law, democracy, and representative government;

 - b) identifying attitudes and behaviors that strengthen the individual work ethic and promote career success;
 - c) identifying skills and education that careers require;
 - d) examining the impact of technological change on career opportunities.

World History to 1500 A.D.

These standards enable students to explore the historical development of people, places, and patterns of life from ancient times until about 1500 A.D. in terms of the impact on Western civilization.

The study of history rests on knowledge of dates, names, places, events, and ideas. Historical understanding, however, requires students to engage in historical thinking: to raise questions and marshal evidence in support of their answers. Students engaged in historical thinking draw upon chronological thinking, historical comprehension, historical analysis and interpretation, historical research, and decision-making. These skills are developed through the study of significant historical substance from the given era or society under study.

- WHI.1 The student will improve skills in historical research and geographical analysis by
- identifying, analyzing, and interpreting primary and secondary sources to make generalizations about events and life in world history to 1500 A.D.;
 - using maps, globes, artifacts, and pictures to analyze the physical and cultural landscapes of the world and interpret the past to 1500 A.D.;
 - identifying major geographic features important to the study of world history to 1500 A.D.;
 - identifying and comparing political boundaries with the location of civilizations, empires, and kingdoms from 4000 B.C. to 1500 A.D.;
 - analyzing trends in human migration and cultural interaction from prehistory to 1500 A.D.

Era I: Human Origins and Early Civilizations, Prehistory to 1000 B.C.

- WHI.2 The student will demonstrate knowledge of early development of humankind from the Paleolithic Era to the revolution of agriculture by
- explaining the impact of geographic environment on hunter-gatherer societies;
 - listing characteristics of hunter-gatherer societies, including their use of tools and fire;
 - describing technological and social advancements that gave rise to stable communities;
 - explaining how archeological discoveries are changing present-day knowledge of early peoples.
- WHI.3 The student will demonstrate knowledge of ancient river civilizations, including Egypt, Mesopotamia, the Indus Valley, and China and the civilizations of the Hebrews, Phoenicians, and Kush, by
- locating these civilizations in time and place;
 - describing the development of social, political, and economic patterns, including slavery;
 - explaining the development of religious traditions;
 - describing the origins, beliefs, traditions, customs, and spread of Judaism;
 - explaining the development of language and writing.

Era II: Classical Civilizations and Rise of Religious Traditions, 1000 B.C. to 500 A.D.

- WHI.4 The student will demonstrate knowledge of the civilizations of Persia, India, and China in terms of chronology, geography, social structures, government, economy, religion, and contributions to later civilizations by
- a) describing Persia, with emphasis on the development of an imperial bureaucracy;
 - b) describing India, with emphasis on the Aryan migrations and the caste system;
 - c) describing the origins, beliefs, traditions, customs, and spread of Hinduism;
 - d) describing the origins, beliefs, traditions, customs, and spread of Buddhism;
 - e) describing China, with emphasis on the development of an empire and the construction of the Great Wall;
 - f) describing the impact of Confucianism, Taoism, and Buddhism.
- WHI.5 The student will demonstrate knowledge of ancient Greece in terms of its impact on Western civilization by
- a) assessing the influence of geography on Greek economic, social, and political development, including the impact of Greek commerce and colonies;
 - b) describing Greek mythology and religion;
 - c) identifying the social structure and role of slavery, explaining the significance of citizenship and the development of democracy, and comparing the city-states of Athens and Sparta;
 - d) evaluating the significance of the Persian and Peloponnesian Wars;
 - e) characterizing life in Athens during the Golden Age of Pericles;
 - f) listing the contributions of Greek philosophers (including Socrates, Plato, and Aristotle), playwrights, poets, historians, sculptors, architects, scientists, and mathematicians;
 - g) explaining the conquest of Greece by Macedonia and the spread of Hellenistic culture by Alexander the Great.
- WHI.6 The student will demonstrate knowledge of ancient Rome from about 700 B.C. to 500 A.D. in terms of its impact on Western civilization by
- a) assessing the influence of geography on Roman economic, social, and political development;
 - b) describing Roman mythology and religion;
 - c) explaining the social structure and role of slavery, significance of citizenship, and the development of democratic features in the government of the Roman Republic;
 - d) sequencing events leading to Roman military domination of the Mediterranean basin and Western Europe and the spread of Roman culture in these areas;
 - e) assessing the impact of military conquests on the army, economy, and social structure of Rome;
 - f) assessing the roles of Julius and Augustus Caesar in the collapse of the Republic and the rise of imperial monarchs;
 - g) explaining the economic, social, and political impact of the Pax Romana;
 - h) describing the origin, beliefs, traditions, customs, and spread of Christianity;
 - i) explaining the development and significance of the Catholic Church in the late Roman Empire;
 - j) listing contributions in art and architecture, technology and science, literature and history, language, religious institutions, and law;
 - k) citing the reasons for the decline and fall of the Western Roman Empire.

Era III: Postclassical Civilizations, 500 to 1000 A.D.

- WHI.7 The student will demonstrate knowledge of the Byzantine Empire and Russia from about 300 to 1000 A.D. by
- a) explaining the establishment of Constantinople as the capital of the Eastern Roman Empire;
 - b) identifying Justinian and his contributions, including the codification of Roman law, and describing the expansion of the Byzantine Empire and economy;
 - c) characterizing Byzantine art and architecture and the preservation of Greek and Roman traditions;
 - d) explaining disputes that led to the split between the Roman Catholic and Orthodox churches;
 - e) assessing the impact of Byzantine influence and trade on Russia and eastern Europe.
- WHI.8 The student will demonstrate knowledge of Islamic civilization from about 600 to 1000 A.D. by
- a) describing the origin, beliefs, traditions, customs, and spread of Islam;
 - b) assessing the influence of geography on Islamic economic, social, and political development, including the impact of conquest and trade;
 - c) identifying historical turning points that affected the spread and influence of Islamic civilization;
 - d) citing cultural and scientific contributions and achievements of Islamic civilization.
- WHI.9 The student will demonstrate knowledge of Western Europe during the Middle Ages from about 500 to 1000 A.D. in terms of its impact on Western civilization by
- a) sequencing events related to the spread and influence of Christianity and the Catholic Church throughout Europe;
 - b) explaining the structure of feudal society and its economic, social, and political effects;
 - c) explaining the rise of Frankish kings, the Age of Charlemagne, and the revival of the idea of the Roman Empire;
 - d) sequencing events related to the invasions, settlements, and influence of migratory groups, including Magyars, Vikings, Angles, and Saxons.

Era IV: Regional Interactions, 1000 to 1500 A.D.

- WHI.10 The student will demonstrate knowledge of civilizations and empires of the Eastern Hemisphere and their interactions through regional trade patterns by
- a) locating major trade routes;
 - b) identifying technological advances and transfers, networks of economic interdependence, and cultural interactions;
 - c) describing Japan, with emphasis on the impact of Shinto and Buddhist traditions, and the influence of Chinese culture;
 - d) describing east African kingdoms of Axum and Zimbabwe, and west African civilizations of Ghana, Mali, and Songhai in terms of geography, society, economy, and religion.

- WHI.11 The student will demonstrate knowledge of major civilizations of the Western Hemisphere, including the Mayan, Aztec, and Incan, by
- a) describing geographic relationship with emphasis on patterns of development in terms of climate and physical features;
 - b) describing cultural patterns and political and economic structures.
- WHI.12 The student will demonstrate knowledge of social, economic, and political changes and cultural achievements in the late Medieval period by
- a) describing the emergence of nation-states (England, France, Spain, and Russia) and distinctive political developments in each;
 - b) explaining conflicts among Eurasian powers, including the Crusades, the Mongol conquests, and the fall of Constantinople;
 - c) identifying patterns of crisis and recovery, including the Black Death;
 - d) explaining the preservation and transfer to Western Europe of Greek, Roman, and Arabic philosophy, medicine, and science.
- WHI.13 The student will demonstrate knowledge of developments leading to the Renaissance in Europe in terms of its impact on Western civilization by
- a) identifying the economic foundations of the Renaissance;
 - b) sequencing events related to the rise of Italian city-states and their political development, including Machiavelli's theory of government as described in The Prince;
 - c) citing artistic, literary, and philosophical creativity, as contrasted with the Medieval period, including Leonardo DaVinci, Michelangelo, and Petrarch;
 - d) comparing the Italian and the Northern Renaissance, and citing the contributions of Shakespeare.

World History: 1500 A.D. to the Present

These standards enable students to cover history and geography from about 1500 A.D. to the present, with emphasis on Western Europe. Geographic influences on history continue to be explored, but increasing attention is given to political boundaries that developed with the evolution of nations. Significant attention will be given to the ways in which scientific and technological revolutions created new economic conditions that in turn produced social and political changes. Noteworthy people and events of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries will be emphasized for their strong connections to contemporary issues.

The study of history rests on knowledge of dates, names, places, events and ideas. Historical understanding, however, requires students to engage in historical thinking: to raise questions and marshal evidence in support of their answers. Students engaged in historical thinking draw upon chronological thinking, historical comprehension, historical analysis and interpretation, historical research, and decision-making. These skills are developed through the study of significant historical substance from the given era or society under study.

- WHII.1 The student will improve skills in historical research and geographical analysis by
- identifying, analyzing, and interpreting primary and secondary sources to make generalizations about events and life in world history since 1500 A.D.;
 - using maps, globes, artifacts, and pictures to analyze the physical and cultural landscapes of the world and to interpret the past since 1500 A.D.;
 - identifying major geographic features important to the study of world history since 1500 A.D.;
 - identifying and comparing political boundaries with the location of civilizations, empires, and kingdoms from 1500 A.D. to the present;
 - analyzing trends in human migration and cultural interaction from 1500 A.D. to the present.
- WHII.2 The student will demonstrate an understanding of the political, cultural, and economic conditions in the world about 1500 A.D. by
- locating major states and empires;
 - describing artistic, literary, and intellectual ideas of the Renaissance;
 - describing the distribution of major religions;
 - locating major trade patterns;
 - citing major technological and scientific exchanges in the Eastern Hemisphere.

Era V: Emergence of a Global Age, 1500 to 1650 A.D.

- WHII.3 The student will demonstrate knowledge of the Reformation in terms of its impact on Western civilization by
- explaining the effects of the theological, political, and economic differences that emerged, including the views and actions of Martin Luther, John Calvin, and Henry VIII;
 - describing the impact of religious conflicts, including the Inquisition, on society and government actions;
 - describing changing cultural values, traditions, and philosophies, and assessing the role of the printing press.

- WHII.4 The student will demonstrate knowledge of the impact of the European Age of Discovery and expansion into the Americas, Africa, and Asia by
- a) explaining the roles of explorers and conquistadors;
 - b) describing the influence of religion;
 - c) explaining migration, settlement patterns, cultural diffusion, and social classes in the colonized areas;
 - d) defining the Columbian Exchange;
 - e) explaining the triangular trade;
 - f) describing the impact of precious metal exports from the Americas.
- WHII.5 The student will demonstrate knowledge of the status and impact of global trade on regional civilizations of the world after 1500 A.D. by
- a) describing the location and development of the Ottoman Empire;
 - b) describing India, including the Mughal Empire and coastal trade;
 - c) describing East Asia, including China and the Japanese shogunate;
 - d) describing Africa and its increasing involvement in global trade;
 - e) describing the growth of European nations, including the Commercial Revolution and mercantilism.

Era VI: Age of Revolutions, 1650 to 1914 A.D.

- WHII.6 The student will demonstrate knowledge of scientific, political, economic, and religious changes from about the sixteenth to eighteenth centuries by
- a) describing the Scientific Revolution and its effects;
 - b) describing the Age of Absolutism, including the monarchies of Louis XIV, Frederick the Great, and Peter the Great;
 - c) assessing the impacts of the English Civil War and the Glorious Revolution on democracy;
 - d) explaining the political, religious, and social ideas of the Enlightenment and the ways in which they influenced the founders of the United States;
 - e) describing the French Revolution;
 - f) identifying the impact of the American and French Revolutions on Latin America;
 - g) describing the expansion of the arts, philosophy, literature, and new technology.
- WHII.7 The student will demonstrate knowledge of political and philosophical developments in Europe during the nineteenth century by
- a) assessing the impact of Napoleon and the Congress of Vienna, including changes in political boundaries in Europe after 1815;
 - b) describing the influence of revolutions on the expansion of political rights in Europe;
 - c) explaining events related to the unification of Italy and the role of Italian nationalists;

- WHIL.8 The student will demonstrate knowledge of the effects of the Industrial Revolution during the nineteenth century by
- a) citing scientific, technological, and industrial developments and explaining how they brought about urbanization and social and environmental changes;
 - b) explaining the emergence of capitalism as a dominant economic pattern, with the resulting development of socialism and communism;
 - c) describing the evolution of the nature of work and the labor force, including its effects on families, the status of women and children, the slave trade, and the labor union movement;
 - d) explaining the rise of industrial economies and their link to imperialism and nationalism;
 - e) assessing the impact of European economic and military power with emphasis on Asia and Africa, the competition for resources, and the responses of colonized peoples.

Era VII: Era of Global Wars, 1914 to 1945

- WHIL.9 The student will demonstrate knowledge of the worldwide impact of World War I by
- a) explaining economic and political causes, major events, leaders, outcomes, and global effects of the war, including the Treaty of Versailles;
 - b) citing causes and consequences of the Russian Revolution.
- WHIL.10 The student will demonstrate knowledge of political, economic, social, and cultural developments during the Interwar Period by
- a) describing the League of Nations and the mandate system;
 - b) citing causes and assessing the impact of worldwide depression in the 1930s;
 - c) examining events related to the rise, aggression, and human costs of totalitarian regimes in the Soviet Union, Germany, Italy, and Japan, and identifying their major leaders.
- WHIL.11 The student will demonstrate knowledge of the worldwide impact of World War II by
- a) explaining economic and political causes, major events, and leaders of the war;
 - b) examining the Holocaust and other examples of genocide in the twentieth century;
 - c) explaining the terms of the peace, including the war crimes trials, the division of Europe, plans to rebuild Germany and Japan, and the creation of international cooperative organizations.

Era VIII: The Post War Period, 1945 to the Present

- WHIL.12 The student will demonstrate knowledge of major events and outcomes of the Cold War by
- a) explaining key events of the Cold War, including the competition between the American and Soviet economic and political systems and the causes of the collapse of Communism in the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe;
 - b) assessing the impact of nuclear power on patterns of conflict and cooperation since 1945;
 - c) describing conflicts and revolutionary movements in eastern Asia, including those in China, Korea, and Vietnam, and their major leaders.

- WHII.13 The student will demonstrate knowledge of political, economic, social, and cultural aspects of independence movements and development efforts by
- a) describing Asian struggles for self-rule, including India's struggle for independence under Gandhi;
 - b) describing Africa's achievement of independence, including Kenyatta's leadership of Kenya;
 - c) describing the end of the mandate system and the creation of states in the Middle East.
- WHII.14 The student will demonstrate knowledge of cultural, economic, and social conditions in developed and developing nations of the contemporary world by
- a) identifying social and cultural opportunities and challenges that have resulted from the use of new technologies;
 - b) identifying contemporary political issues;
 - c) identifying political conflicts in which religion has played a major role;
 - d) assessing the impact of economic development and global population growth on the environment and society;
 - e) describing economic interdependence, including the rise of multinational corporations, international organizations, and trade agreements.

World Geography

The focus of this course is the study of the world's peoples, places, and environments, with an emphasis on world regions. The knowledge, skills, and perspectives of the course are centered on the world's population and cultural characteristics, landforms and climates, economic development, and migration and settlement patterns. Spatial concepts of geography will be used as a framework for studying interactions between humans and their environments. Using geographic resources, students will employ inquiry, research, and technology skills to ask and answer geographic questions. Particular emphasis is placed on students' understanding and applying geographic concepts and skills to their daily lives.

Geographic skills provide the necessary tools and technologies for thinking geographically. These skills help people make important decisions in their daily lives, such as how to get to work and where to shop, vacation, or go to school. They also help people make reasoned political decisions and aid in the development and presentation of effective, persuasive arguments for and against matters of public policy. All of these decisions involve the ability to acquire, arrange, and use geographic information. Maps, as well as graphs, sketches, diagrams, photographs, and satellite-produced images are essential tools of geography.

Geographic skills include

- asking geographic questions
- acquiring geographic information
- organizing geographic information
- analyzing geographic information
- answering geographic information.

WG.1 The student will use maps, globes, photographs, and pictures in order to

- a) obtain geographical information and apply the concepts of location, scale, and orientation;
- b) develop and refine his or her mental maps of world regions;
- c) create and compare political, physical, and thematic maps;
- d) analyze and explain how different cultures develop different perspectives on the world and its problems;
- e) recognize different map projections and explain the concept of distortion.

WG.2 The student will analyze how selected physical and ecological processes shape the Earth's surface by

- a) identifying regional climatic patterns and weather phenomena and their effects on people and places;
- b) describing how humans influence and are influenced by the environment;
- c) explaining how technology affects one's ability to modify and adapt to the environment.

- WG.3 The student will apply the concept of a region by
- explaining how characteristics of regions have led to regional labels;
 - explaining how regional landscapes reflect cultural characteristics of their inhabitants;
 - analyzing how cultural characteristics, including the world's major languages and religions, link or divide regions.
- WG.4 The student will locate and analyze physical, economic, and cultural characteristics of world regions: Latin America and the Caribbean, Europe, United States and Canada, North Africa and Southwest Asia, Sub-Saharan Africa, Russia and Central Asia, South Asia, Southeast Asia, East Asia, Australia and the Pacific Islands, and Antarctica.
- WG.5 The student will compare and contrast the distribution, growth rates, and characteristics of human population in terms of settlement patterns and the location of natural and capital resources.
- WG.6 The student will analyze past and present trends in human migration and cultural interaction as they are influenced by social, economic, political, and environmental factors.
- WG.7 The student will identify natural, human, and capital resources and explain their significance by
- showing patterns of economic activity and land use;
 - evaluating perspectives and consequences regarding the use of resources.
- WG.8 The student will distinguish between developed and developing countries and relate the level of economic development to the quality of life.
- WG.9 The student will analyze the global patterns and networks of economic interdependence by
- identifying criteria that influence economic activities;
 - explaining comparative advantage and its relationship to international trade;
 - describing ways that economic, social, and spatial relationships have changed over time;
 - describing and evaluating the formation of economic unions.
- WG.10 The student will analyze how the forces of conflict and cooperation affect the division and control of the earth's surface by
- identifying some regional examples of conflict and cooperation between and among nations;
 - analyzing reasons for conflict over borders, resources, and settlement areas;
 - analyzing ways cooperation occurs to solve problems and settle disputes.
- WG.11 The student will analyze the patterns of urban development by
- applying the concepts of site and situation to major cities in each region;
 - explaining how the functions of towns and cities have changed over time;
 - identifying urban regions of the world and explaining the challenges they faced.
- WG.12 The student will apply geography to interpret the past, understand the present, and plan for the future by
- using geographic knowledge, skills, and perspectives to analyze problems and make decisions;
 - relating current events to the physical and human characteristics of places and regions.

Virginia and United States History

The standards for Virginia and United States History include the historical development of American ideas and institutions from the Age of Exploration to the present. While focusing on political and economic history, the standards provide students with a basic knowledge of American culture through a chronological survey of major issues, movements, people, and events in United States and Virginia history. Students should use historical and geographical analysis skills to explore in depth the events, people, and ideas that fostered our national identity and led to our country's prominence in world affairs.

The study of history must emphasize the intellectual skills required for responsible citizenship. Students practice these skills as they extend their understanding of the essential knowledge defined by all of the standards for history and social science.

Skills

- VUS.1 The student will demonstrate skills for historical and geographical analysis, including the ability to
- a) identify, analyze, and interpret primary and secondary source documents, records, and data, including artifacts, diaries, letters, photographs, journals, newspapers, historical accounts, and art, to better understand events and life in the United States;
 - b) evaluate the authenticity, authority, and credibility of sources;
 - c) formulate historical questions and defend findings based on inquiry and interpretation;
 - d) develop perspectives of time and place, including the construction of maps and various time lines of events, periods, and personalities in American history;
 - e) communicate findings orally and in analytical essays and/or comprehensive papers;
 - f) develop skills in discussion, debate, and persuasive writing with respect to enduring issues and determine how divergent viewpoints have been addressed and reconciled;
 - g) apply geographic skills and reference sources to understand how relationships between humans and their environment have changed over time;
 - h) interpret the significance of excerpts from famous speeches and documents.

Early America: Early Claims, Early Conflicts

- VUS.2 The student will describe how early European exploration and colonization resulted in cultural interactions among Europeans, Africans, and American Indians (First Americans).
- VUS.3 The student will describe how the values and institutions of European economic life took root in the colonies and how slavery reshaped European and African life in the Americas.

Revolution and the New Nation
